1148 60186 Columbia University 2004C - The three-year term rate mode period ended on June 30, 2007, triggering a mandatory tender of the bonds. Columbia elected to roll the bonds into a fixed rate mode effective July 2, 2007. The documents require that a conversion be done on an interest payment date. Since that date fell on a weekend, it was determined that the term mode would be extended one day allowing for the conversion to occur on July 2. Bondholders will be paid the additional day of interest on July 2.
Since the bonds were sold at a premium, Columbia elected not to remarket $1,730,000 of the $50M in bonds outstanding.
